Dividends Confessed

Then profits chimed in that they too were full of shit.

Costs threatened
to ruin everybody.

People rushed to gold,
much of which was painted bricks.

Economists said everything was adjusting to everything else. A good sign

and possibly not,
at any rate,

felons requested more
optimistic cellmates.